COMMISSION SETS DATE FOR HEARING

Judge James L. Clark, a Member, Notifies Mayor Ross That it Will be Held December 17.

ELECTRIC RATES INVOLVED

City Attorney Kasting Prepared to Make Hard Fight in Interest of Patrons.

Date for Hearing Set.

Mayor John A. Ross today received a letter from Judge James L. Clark, a member of the Indiana Public Service Commission that the date for the hearing relative to the rates for electric service had been set for Friday, December 17. The conference will be held in this city.

After several days the hearing concerning the readjustment of rates for electric service as asked by the city council will be held at the city building on Friday, December 17. This information was contained in a letter received today by Mayor Ross from Judge James L. Clark, a member of the Indiana Public Service Commission. The letter stated that Judge Clark would reach Seymour sometime during the morning and it is presumed that the conference will begin early in the afternoon. The letter further stated that the officials of the Interstate Public Service Company, which operates the local plant, had been officially notified of the date and will be ready to present arguments at that time. The date was fixed by the commission.

It is expected that the hearing will occupy the greater part of the afternoon of December 17. It is generally expected that the company's officials and attorneys will present a maze of figures and statistics. In this respect the hearing will be different from the one recently held here to determine the gas rates. The commission's accountants have already prepared a lengthy report concerning the operating expenses and income of the local plant and this statement, it is expected, will be used as the basis for final settlement.

The conference was agreed upon when Judge Clark was here to preside at the gas hearing about the gas rates. He stated that it would be impossible to take up the electric rate question at that time as a carefully compiled statement of the expenses and income would first have to be in the hands of the commission. Accordingly, the accountants were sent here immediately and have since filed the report and copies have been sent to the city officials.

Recently a meeting of the patrons of the company was held at the council chamber and it was agreed that the council should stand firmly for seven cents for both domestic and commercial lighting, a three-cent rate for power, a minimum charge of fifty cents known as meter rent and a readjustment of the street lighting charges in favor of the city. The commercial lighting rate is now 10 cents per kilowatt hour, the domestic rate is 12 cents, the power rate is

ACCOUNTANTS TO EXAMINE CIVIL AND SCHOOL RECORDS

Work at Crothersville Completed and Experts are Busy at Brownstown Now.

Fred B. Robinson, of Crawfordsville, and Louis Ahlberg, of Indianapolis, accountants from the state board of accounts, were here today on their way to Brownstown where they will examine the books of the civil and school town. They spent Wednesday going over the books in Crothersville and after completing their work in Brownstown, will come here. They expect to begin the examination of the records belonging to the city of Seymour and the local school corporation the first of the week.

The official records are usually examined during the summer months but this year the work was delayed. It will be the first time the books of Mayor Ross have been examined. The system of bookkeeping used by the city clerk and treasurer is one of the best in Indiana and no difficulty in examining the records is anticipated. Every item of expense is carefully and accurately recorded here and the city's income is also entered in the records with equal precision.

The accountants on this trip will not examine the county records. They expect to spend the major part of the coming week in this city.

FIRE ALARM SOUNDED EXACTLY ON THE HOUR

Spark Causes Loss of $25 at the Home of Mrs. Frieda Leckermeyer,
W. Brown Street.

The fire bell was sounded at exactly 9 o'clock, an unusual quick run was made, a hole was burned in the roof at the home of Mrs. Frieda Leckermeyer, 319 West Brown street, Fireman Mead Downs was kicked in the nose by another fireman and the wagon was back at the fire station at 9:15. In other words the fire alarm this morning was followed by events which occurred in rapid fire succession.

The alarm was unusual as it was the first one to be sent in to the local fire department exactly on the hour. Several fires have been reported a few minutes before and a few minutes after the hour but none exactly on the hour. The department responded to a call sent in from the home of Mrs. Leckermeyer where a spark from the chimney had set fire to the roof. A small hole was burned in the roof. One line of hose was used and the water ran through the roof into one room which will have to be repapered. The total loss is given as $25. Just as the firemen were returning Mead Downs, a member of the local company, tried to climb on the wagon and his nose came in contact with the heel of another fireman's shoe.

Can you imagine a more ideal Christmas gift for the home than an electric vacuum cleaner? Special prices.

GOOD FELLOWS CAN HELP IN THIS CITY

Several Have Already Enlisted in Movement to Relieve Distress
Among Needed Families.

HELP TO CHARITY WORKERS

Task of Answering all the Appeals to Too Burdensome for Few
Who Are Active.

A number of people in this city who are interested in charity work have commended the "Good Fellow" plan which was outlined in this paper several days. Several have agreed to be "Good Fellows" to certain families either during the Christmas holidays or for the entire winter. The plan does not necessarily require those who are to look after the families under their care to purchase the supplies that will be needed for them from their individual funds, but they will be expected to call at the homes from time to time and ascertain if all their wants are met.

A leading charity worker said that the plan was discussed last year and had been approved by a number of those active in the movement. It was explained that there are only a few ladies in Seymour who are taking an active personal interest in charity work now and the task of looking after all the reports that are filed is too heavy for the limited number of active workers.

It is hoped that through the "Good Fellow" plan a larger number will become interested in the work. Briefly outlined the plan is as follows: One person or possible several persons will agree among themselves to be Good Fellows to some family that is worthy and in needy circumstances. The Good Fellows will be handed the name of some family that has been reported to be in destitute circumstances and will make a personal investigation of the needs and conditions of such family. If the Good Fellows decide that the family is worthy of assistance they will so report to the chairman of the Charity Association who will be assured that the family's wants will be provided.

The Good Fellows will visit the family from time to time and upon their recommendation funds that will be raised from some other source will be used to provide the needs. In several cases families or individuals who have desired to aid in the Good Fellow movement have agreed to see that all the wants are provided without assistance from the Association.

A number of other persons have agreed to become Good Fellows to needy families for the Christmas season. They have agreed to see that a Christmas basket will be sent to the home of which they have charge and to provide a few simple toys for the children who might otherwise miss the pleasure which will be enjoyed by other children in the same neighborhood.

It is pointed out that the Good Fellow plan ought to enlist the aid of many persons who are willing to assist in this local charity movement and who would gladly share the responsibility if they were asked to do so. It is further explained that if a

ANOTHER CONTINUANCE IS TAKEN IN GREEN CASE

Trial is Again Postponed on Account of the Illness of Attorney
John M. Lewis.

Another continuance was granted this morning in the trial of the State of Indiana against Samuel Green, charged with intoxication. The defendant was arrested on Halloween and the trial has been set several times since then but has been postponed from time to time upon the motion of the state and defense.

About fifty witnesses were present when court opened this morning before Special Judge E. P. Elsner. The defendant is represented by Seba A. Barnes and Judge John M. Lewis. Judge Lewis was unable to leave his home on account of illness and Mr. Barnes protested against having the case come to trial in the absence of his colleague. Judge Elsner granted the motion for a continuance but no definite time was set for the trial. It may be postponed now until after the holidays.

The case has attracted much attention. A jury had been subpoenaed this morning.

BUDDY WAS UNABLE TO ACCOUNT FOR SMOKE

Child Spilled Acid on His New Shoes and Tried to Rub Out the "Smoke" Which Resulted.

When his new pair of shoes begin to "smoke" little Buddy Clark, son of Allie Clark, tried to rub out the "fire." The harder he rubbed the more his shoes smoked. He ran to his grandmother, Mrs. Eva Clark, and she undressed the child to ascertain the source of the smoke. Buddy complained that his hands were burning and an examination revealed that they were blistered. It was then discovered that he had spilled some acid on his shoes which accounted for the smoke. A physician was called and dressed his burned hands.

The child had accompanied his grandmother to the home of Mrs. Joseph Harsh where a home department meeting was to be held. He left the house during the afternoon and went into the yard to play with other children and found a bottle of acid which had been brought to the house. It was supposed that the acid was buried but in some manner Buddy got it and a portion fell on his shoes.

ALLIES MUST MAKE PEACE PROPOSALS

This is Assertion of Imperial Chancellor to Demands of Socialists in the Reichstag.

WAR OF DEFENSE FOR GERMANY

French Claims to Control of Alsace
Lorraine Answered by "Nationality" Test.

(By Carl H. Ackerman, United Press Correspondent.)

Berlin, December 9.—(By Wireless to Sayville)—The imperial chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg today refused to state possible terms of peace in reply to the demand made by German socialists. Instead, he made it plain to a great gathering in the Reichstag that any peace proposal must come from Germany's enemies. "For the German nation," said the chancellor, "this war has always remained what it was at the beginning—a war of defense for the German nation and her future." The chancellor emphatically served notice upon the entente powers the idea of crushing Germany or the so-called "Prussian militarism." "The allies still cling to this notion," he added, "with native brutality."

He indicated too, that Germany would not consider as one of the possible terms of peace the surrender to France of Alsace Lorraine. He met the French claims on Alsace Lorraine on the "nationality" basis, with the statement that eighty-seven per cent. of the Alsace inhabitants speak German and he taunted England by the inquiry what would happen if the same "nationality" test were applied to the British possessions in India and Egypt.

"We do not fight to subjugate other nations," was one of the chancellor's striking statements. "We fight for the protection of life and liberty. If our enemies make peace proposals compatible with Germany's dignity and safety then we shall always be ready to discuss them," was the assertion.

Then a moment later he added: "This war can only be terminated by a peace which gives human certainty that it will not return."

Following the chancellor's speech all political parties in the Reichstag united in a joint declaration approving his stand and declaring in any peace terms guarantees of Germany's safety are necessary even if they include annexation of territory.

Ernest Liebnicht, radical socialist who refused to cast his vote for war appropriations, attempted to interrupt the chancellor while he was making his speech. He was howled down by the crowd in the gallery.

Conspicuous in the audience in the gallery was Grand Admiral Von Tirpitz.

"If the war continues," shouted Schneidemann, the socialist leader, "the U. S. will be the only victor and Europe will commit suicide."

five cents and the minimum monthly charge is 75 cents. The city is paying approximately $9,000 for street lights.

City Attorney Albert Kasting has prepared the arguments that will be presented at the hearing and is confident that a lower rate will be secured. He will show that the rates charged here are much higher than in other cities of this size in Indiana and in other states and that the street lighting contract is more than the average. He will be supported in his arguments by Mayor Ross and the members of the council.

The informal hearing to be held here was suggested by the commission as a means of settling the issues involved without the necessity of taking the case through the regular channels. If this were done it would be necessary to have a valuation placed on the plant and a vast amount of detail work would be required. If the regular methods were employed it would be months before the commission could get to the local case and, it is pointed out, if a satisfactory rate can be secured through this informal hearing the patrons will get the benefit of it immediately.

Sore Throat Don'ts.

When the children have sore throat, don't blister their necks with lamp oil. Don't torture them with a foul smelling piece of fat meat, wrapped about the neck. Don't imagine there is medical virtue in an old sock or piece of red flannel. Don't believe in antiquated superstitions. A sore throat is a serious matter and is not to be healed by such make-believe remedies. The use of such methods is simply putting the patient to needless torture. Use a little sore throat wisdom and give them TONSILINE and the throat will heal quickly. 25 cents and 50 cents. Hospital Size $1.00. All Druggists.

SIX HORSES WILL BE NEEDED TO REMOVE BIG CEDAR TREE

Two Wagons Will Also be Used to Prevent Any of the Branches From Being Broken.

Six horses and two big wagons will be required to move the big cedar tree from the city cemetery to the scene of the entertainment, according to Fred Able, chairman of the committee. The party who has been given the contract for removing the tree said today that at least two wagons would be required so that none of the branches would be broken. The tree is shapely and is one of the largest in this part of the county. The tree will be placed on Second street between Chestnut and Walnut streets.

Arrangements have already been made for lighting it with electric lamps. Scores of colored globes will be used in the decorations. The tree will be brought in next Thursday and the decorating committee will begin work on it Friday or Saturday of next week.

WOMAN'S PAGE

Remarkable Achievements of a Twelve-Year-Old Girl

Local women have been much interested of late in the remarkable girl of five years she was able to achieve of Winifred Sackville Stoner, Jr., the twelve-year-old Pittsburg girl, who acquired a speaking knowledge of eight languages at the age of eight and who is now the author of ten books. Her mother has employed unusual methods in training her and wherever possible has linked that training with play. Gradually, and before she was aware, she was familiar with art, music, mathematics, languages and various other subjects. Her mother was at all times careful to speak correctly to her and within her hearing and was successful in eliminating the laborious work from the educational training.

Winifred is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Stoner. Her father is an employe of the United States in the Public Health Service and for several years was stationed at Norfolk. It was here that the daughter was born. The child has become known as the "wonder girl of the United States", and so much has been written about her that the methods of training which were employed by her mother have been embodied in a book which Mrs. Stoner has called "Natural Education." Mrs. Stoner recently came into the public eye by stating that she could prepare any normal child for college at the age of twelve years with a typewriter, a dictionary and a set of books titled "The Book of Knowledge."

Mrs. Stoner's methods have been widely discussed throughout this country. Their worth, it is stated, is in their simplicity. She says that there is nothing in Winifred's rapid development that might not be attained by any normal child. Winifred, herself, is a well developed girl physically. She is a little oversize for a girl of her years, but this is attributed to her outdoor activities and wholesome food.

Winifred's educational training began while she was yet a few months old. Her mother carried her about the house, pointed out chairs and other objects in the room, repeating their names distinctly. She surrounded the baby with colored pictures and taught her the names of colors by the use of variously tinted yarns. The baby's first plaything was a red balloon. Soon this was exchanged for balloons of other colors and shapes. Before the baby was a year old she was conversing in polysyllabic words, and as soon as she could speak English her mother began teaching her Spanish. This was followed by other languages and when Winifred was a

Before the unusual training had advanced far Mrs. Stoner came to the realization that her daughter had grasped such subjects as languages, music, art and poetry but knew nothing about mathematics. Accordingly she consulted with a mathematician who outlined a series of studies in elementary arithmetic. The girl's first work in addition and subtraction was given while playing with beans, peas and other small articles. Like her other studies it was made part of her play and she never tired of them. A certain number of tin soldiers were placed in a line and after the "engagement" the baby learned to count her toys. Winifred never had the enjoyment of "taking an exam." Her mother believed in results not rules and made one study a stepping stone for another.

Algebra and geometry were taken up before Winifred reached the age of eight. Cardboard and scissors played an important part in the teaching of these subjects.

That the girl might learn the value of money she was sent to the market and made the purchases, paid for them and was given the change in return. In this way she became familiar with market values and the practical side of business life. As she mastered one principle similar methods were employed to teach her advanced ones. In this manner the child was prevented from becoming theoretical. She learned pharmacists' weights and measures by "keeping a drug store" which was patronized by her mother.

In infancy the girl lived in the land of fairies and gnomes. As her imagination grew she began to write stories and poems and at the age of five years wrote jingles and short verses for magazines and newspapers. She is a champion chess player, can execute difficult dancing steps and at eleven taught Esperanto in the Carnegie Institute.

Winifred has never received physical punishment. This is one of the ten "Nevers" which Mrs. Stoner has adopted in rearing children. The other nine are: "Never say don't," "Never say Must," "Never let a child say 'Can't'," "Never refuse to answer any of the child's questions," "Never allow a child to lose self-respect or respect for his parents," "Never scold a child," "Never allow any other spot to become more attractive than home."

MARGARET MASON'S FASHION LETTER

(Written for the United Press.)

The girl next door is going to be married next week. Her prospective supporter is busy looking for a job in the meantime. The wedding bells may ring a little flat to the bridegroom's ears, but there'll be nothing flat about the wedding ring. It's platinum, set with eleven diamonds.

An unchased gold band may be chaste, but it isn't chased after by the 1915 model brides. After all, this golden link in Hymen's fetters might just as well be as ornate as it is binding.

It was a step toward emancipation when the brides of seven or eight years ago cast off the massive and cumbersome bull's-eye band of their grandmothers and spanned their dainty little third fingers with a narrow yellow circlet.

Now nothing will do but a diamond banded circlet, one of platinum, or, if it must be of gold, one heavily hand carved and decorated.

A progressive western jewelry firm has on hand two charming wedding rings. One dubbed the Venue, the other, The Orange Blossom. They come in green gold, in platinum or diamond studded. Fittingly symbolic, circuit court in which Hugh E. Hogan sues Mr. and Mrs. James Rhode, of Newcastle, for property valued at $10,000. Attorneys for Hogan said today they expect the case to be set for trial about January 1.

Mrs. Rhode is Hogan's sister-in-law. In his complaint Hogan alleges that Mrs. Rhode, who is of considerable social consequence in Newcastle, exercised undue influence over him and persuaded him to deed over to her the property, which was willed him by his wife.

Hogan alleges that Mrs. Rhode persuaded him to visit her in Newcastle the day after he buried Mrs. Hogan; that she gave him beer, which he wasn't used to, and a cigar, which made him dizzy, and that by wiles which a beautiful woman can exercise, convinced him for the moment that he should deed the property to her, which he did. Mrs. Rhode's deposition declares that she gave him $1 in return.

Mrs. Rhode is a Tri Kappa. She formerly was a trapeze performer with a circus. She first met Hogan in Atlanta, Ga. She is described as a fascinating woman. Details of the suit were published for the first time today. Hogan's attorneys are Fred

The Venus is decorated with a design of myrtle, the vine sacred to the goddess of Love and Beauty. The orange blossom design needs no explanation of its symbolism.

That well advertised young heiress, Eugenia Kelly, when she became the second bride of Al Davis the other day, unwittingly became also the arbiter of the latest fashion in wedding rings. When the bridegroom forgot such a mere detail, she was married with a quaint copper ring of her late father's.

Ring the changes on the wedding ring is almost bound to cause a bargain rush on the divorce court. All of the brides of yesteryear will be so anxious to change "little-old-last-year's" wedding ring for one of the lovely new ones.

Another dire possibility is that the ringing of bridal bells may be hushed throughout the land if the bridegrooms go on a strike and refuse to accede to the ringing of the bridal bells in the new, elaborate manner in which they wish to be accustomed.

SCRAP-BOOK FOR THE KITCHEN INVALUABLE

A woman who is famed throughout their neighborhood as "very original" says that the "kitchen scrapbook" is most valuable to her. She explains that she made use of an old record book for this purpose. Whenever she reads of any method or any suggestion that might be used by her some time she clips it out of the newspaper or magazine and pastes it in the book. The book is divided into "departments," for recipes, household suggestions, house decorations, forms of entertainment and the like. Many times the suggestions can be used as given while others give her ideas that can be used in her home.

CARD INDEX RECOMMENDED FOR FILING RECEIPTS

The card index has become a part of the modern business system and thoughtful housewives are taking advantage of it. Instead of keeping recipes which are frequently used in a large book, they are recopied and indexed. When they are needed the individual cards can be received. The system is recommended by many women who have adopted it as simple and convenient. The cards can be purchased at a small cost and any box of convenient size can be used to hold them if it is not desired to purchase a regular index container.

KEEPING THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT IN THE HOME

The home is the best place for the Christmas spirit to be reflected. Appropriate decorations can be arranged at little or no cost and the reward for the effort will be large. Holly or other greenery can be obtained at a small cost. Don't be afraid to place your Christmas decorations so they can be seen from the street. A little greenery around the windows and doors will give the home a distinctive appearance. Christmas is a season of joy and the sentiment ought to be felt by your family within their own home.

New Fashions in Neckwear.

Neckwear fashions are very changeable just now. One minute collars are up and the next they are down very flat. Neckwear styles for winter, however, are to be mostly high; that is, there will be some all-high collars, some flat collars and some that are high in the back and roll away in the front. The stole is a new neckwear note, as is also the crossed fichu of organdie with organdie ruchings. There will be much soft neckwear of Georgette crepe, net, marquisette and silk organdie. Colored embroidery on Georgette crepe is a new feature, while burnt orange collarettes of the same material are a popular fashion note.

Sashes are Unusually Long.

Ribbons are making their trimming utility known in many fascinating ways, and one of the most piquant takes the form of very long sash ends, trailing the ground, although the frock is cut inches short above it. For the rest frock there may be a corsage cummerbund of pale rose ribbon, with a delicate blue crepe de chine fichu tucked into it and long ends at the back, crepe sleeves with ribbon frills at the elbows, and a crepe skirt ruffled beneath with more ribbon or with ribbon run net. Any amount of ingenuity may now be expended usefully upon such possibilities as ribbon effects, and it need hardly be said upon those of fur, and the fact that many of the rich dark colors are admirably adapted for the evening is an aid to the economy schemes that are being thought out. Some of the Bordeaux shades, the exquisite sapphire blues, the malachite greens and lacquer reds, are ideal, and of a comfortable warm aspect for winter indoor wear.

FOR THE BABY.

Get a store box about three feet square and eighteen inches deep. See that inside and edge are made very smooth. Cut squares to fit from better part of old comforts. Cover with washable material and knot closely; these make easily laundered pads for bottom.

Place baby and his playthings inside. If he is inclined to throw them out, fasten by strings or ribbons to edge of box so that he may haul them in again if he likes.

By holding to edge of box he may learn to walk and will be protected meantime from cold and drafts to which a creeping baby on the floor is always exposed; also from fire, hot liquids and many things of which the little child who has the range of the house is always in danger.

If the baby has not previously been spoiled, he will be happy and contented in his little pen.

ALICE COULDN'T VISIT VINCENNES

Old Territorial Capital Celebrates One Hundredth Anniversary as Corporation.

BIG HISTORICAL PARADE

Townpeople are Proud of New Paved Streets and Other Recent Improvements.

By United Press.
Vincennes, Ind., December 9.—Although Vincennes celebrated today one hundred years as a organized town and city, there were many townspeople here who would have frowned had Alice of Old Vincennes or George Rogers Clark dropped in on the celebration. The New Vincennes celebrated, and the Vincennes band—an energetic one—even had to buy and practice "On The Banks of the Wabash" specially for this event.

With only a lurking sign of pride in the romance of Alice and the history of Clark, Vincennes today threw out its chest to boast of thirteen miles of paved streets, a storm sewer and the fact that two six-story buildings will soon be erected. For Vincennes is peeved because all its visitors ask the way to the house where Alice lived and the place where Clark knocked the British cold at Ft. Sackville.

This city was once the capital of the territory now embraced in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and part of Minnesota, and at the invitation of Governor Samuel M. Ralston, several of the governors of these states "came home" today. They too, asked to see the historic sights of the town.

Signs of the upheaval against olden times and things followed closely upon the overthrow of Democratic rule here. For ninety-eight years Vincennes elected Democratic mayors with monotonous regularity, but in 1913 James M. House was chosen mayor. Changes came rapidly then.

Vincennes' celebration will continue until Saturday night. The big feature of today will be a night mass meeting at which the various governors will be prominent. "On the Banks of the Wabash" will be revived. The band has mastered the old song that was discarded here.

The old town's pride will culminate Friday in the industrial and historical parade. Its feature will be ten great tableaux depicting ten epochs in Vincennes history from the time in 1660 when the first two white men came down the Wabash, to the time of the settlers. Among the scenes reproduced in miniature will be the burning of Morgan, Sieur de Vincennes; the capture of the post from the French by the British in 1772; the fall of British sovereignty over the great empire of the north-west when George Rogers Clark captured Ft. Sackville in 1779; the meeting of General Hamilton and Colonel Clark; accomplishing the evacuation of the British; the meeting of the legislature of the great territory of Indiana in 1800, and the settlers' scene in which figures emblematical of Chicago, Milwaukee, Madison, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Cleveland, etc., are seen in the distant future each typifying victory.

The meeting will be attended by Mr. Macbeth, representing the Grand Lodge, by Henry F. Fulling, of Boonville, Grand Patriarch of the Encampment, and by Mrs. Mary E. Nauer, of Vernon, by Past Grand Patriarch Andrews of Riverdale, and many other notables in Indiana Odd Fellowship.

According to the plans outlined yesterday, the meeting will consist of a round table conference of officers and workers in the afternoon and a public session, followed by a degree meeting, in the evening. The event will attract a large number of Odd Fellows from over the county, and a banner meeting is anticipated.

PEACE LEGISLATURE OF 1863.
From the Union standpoint the political prospect in Indiana was gloomy enough at the opening of 1863. The legislature and state offices, the governorship excepted, were in the hands of the peace democrats; those who would end the war at the expense of recognizing the Confederacy. Some wished to establish an independent Northwestern Confederacy. The legislature was bitterly antagonistic to Morton and there was talk of taking away his military powers in investing the new Democratic officials with them. The way in which the War Governor met this opposition attests his great political sagacity and acumen.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wells and children, of Terre Haute, returned to their home this morning after a visit here for the past week with relatives.

number of people will agree to become Good Fellows even during the holidays the burden placed upon a few members of the City Charity Organization will be greatly lightened.

Formerly the city was divided into districts and about twenty ladies were district chairmen. They visited the various homes in their district and received the appeals for assistance and in turn reported to the president of the organization. It is stated that the district workers and especially the president of the association is burdened with too much work by this plan and if it is carried out in the future it will be necessary to have a paid secretary who can devote all of her time to this work and who can answer all calls which are reported to her.

In the absence of a paid secretary, the Good Fellow plan is regarded as the most effective substitute and it is believed that it will result in a vast amount of good. There are now a number of families in need. Some of the homes which have been reported have been made destitute by sickness and death. There are children who are in need of clothing. There are homes which have no fuel and very little food. All of these would appreciate assistance. Those desiring to become Good Fellows to some family either during the Christmas Holidays or for the entire winter can report to Mrs. J. F. Shiel or Mrs. Clarence Hopewell.
